

ARIAFLO

Superior softness and airflow for ultimate comfort

Overview

Ariaflo is an ultra soft, ultra silky, high airflow foam for exceptional comfort and maximum pressure management. Specially created to avoid the sinking feeling of memory foam and high bounce of resilient or latex foams, this unique new foam provides a combination of subtle pressure relief and mild resiliency. Its open cell structure provides maximum airflow to transfer heat and moisture away from the body. This unique new foam's responsiveness, exceptional softness, and temperature management make it perfect for layering over an enveloping memory foam or a firm, high bounce latex.

Comfort

Airflow

Pressure Relief

Benefits

- Open cell structure for maximum airflow
- Excellent temperature management
- Ultra soft, luxurious comfort
- CertiPUR-US® certified
- Environmentally friendly VPF™ technology

Exceptional Airflow for Maximum Temperature Management

The superior properties of FXI specialty bedding foams are largely a result of the patented VPF™ manufacturing technology, or Variable Pressure Foaming. This proprietary process uses an enclosed chamber to maintain constant atmospheric conditions, delivering a consistently high quality, perfectly formed product with every run. In addition to producing best in class foam, VPF protects our environment with virtually zero emissions, completely eliminating CFCs and other blowing agents that can be harmful.

About FXI

FXI is a leading producer of foam innovation in the Bedding, Furniture, Industrial, Home & Office, Healthcare and Transportation Markets. Our focus is on finding tailored solutions for our customers that are driven by consumer insights and industry trends. Our products include finished goods, sub-assemblies, services and raw materials for OEMs, fabricators and retailers. You will find FXI's foam innovations inside, around and under yourself in countless applications. We protect automobile passengers on the highway, help consumers sleep sounder and furniture manufacturers create comfort. We provide for sharper images in digital printers and help consumers keep their homes clean. We provide critical components for filters, gaskets and seals in everything from blood oxygenators to computer disk drives. Everywhere foam goes; FXI's innovations lead the way.

FXI Home Furnishings Innovations
fxi.com

